Have you heard of the Nobel Prize? Most people have. Nobel Prizes are given to people who do something good for the world. There are Nobel Prizes for peace, physics, chemistry, medicine, literature and economics. They are awarded each year. The winners get a medal and 10 million Swedish kronor. That is about 100 million yen.

There is another award you may not have heard of. It is the Ig Nobel Prize. This is a joke award. It is given to people who do something to make people laugh and also make them think. The Nobel Prize was named after Alfred Nobel, a Swedish scientist. The word ‘noble’ means ‘a person of high quality.’ ‘Ignoble’ means ‘not noble.’ One of the awards recently was given to scientists who tested hanging rhinos upside down.

The scientists wanted to know if hanging rhinos upside down was bad for the rhino’s health. This seems ridiculous and funny, but to move a rhino, people use a helicopter. The scientists wanted to know if the rhino was better upside down or on its side. The result was it is healthier to hang a rhino upside down than carry it on its side. Next the scientists wanted to test other animals.

Other Ig Nobel Prizes were for economics: research into if how fat a country’s politicians were was connected to how corrupt they were; and for physics: researching why pedestrians don’t always bump into other pedestrians. The prize for an Ig Nobel was 100,000,000,000 Zimbabwean dollars this year. This was about 40 yen!

5 different sisters from Matsusaka all bought lottery tickets this week. They bought them in different places on different days. They all chose different numbers. But which sister won?

- Mum: Hey everyone! I checked the lottery numbers on the Internet and somebody won 700,000,000 yen!!!
- All sisters: Wow!!
- Mum: But I don't know whose ticket won. You didn't write your names on the tickets! There are so many tickets here.
- Irina: I really wanted to win so I bought 4 packs of 5. 20 tickets there are mine.
- Katy: I bought 2 packs.
- Olivia: So did I.
- Erika: I just bought 1 pack on Friday when I went to Nagoya.
- Mika: Wow, you all bought so many. I just bought 1 ticket after I went shopping here in Matsusaka. I used the change from shopping to buy just 1 ticket.
- Mum: The winning ticket says where it was bought. But it is a little torn. It says something-saka.
- Irina: That could be Osaka because I bought my tickets last Wednesday when I went shopping in Namba.
- Mika: Or it could be Matsusaka. I bought mine at Matsusaka station the day before you went to Osaka.
- Mum: Do you remember the numbers?
- Olivia: I know my numbers. I always choose 7, 9 and 19 because I was born in 1997.
- Mum: Oh dear. There is no number 9 in the winning ticket.
- Mika: I always choose 2 and 14 because I love Valentine's day.
- Mum: There is no number 2, so you didn't win, Mika.
- Erika: I chose holiday dates too. Like Culture Day on November 3rd, and National Foundation Day on February 11th. So I chose 3 and 11. And 10 too because that used to be Sports Day.

Mum: There are no 3 and 11 on the winning ticket, Erika!

Katy: I chose holidays too. Like January 1st, May 5th.

Mum: That's close. The winning numbers are 1, 5, 7, 8, 10 and 23.

Irina: Maybe it is my ticket. I don't remember all the numbers but I'm sure I had 8, 10 and 23. My dog, Choco, was born on the 10th of August this year. 7 is my lucky number too! I hope it's mine!

Katy: I think I had 23 too, because this year is 2023! July 7th is my birthday!! I hope it's mine!

Mum: Where did you buy your tickets, Katy?

Katy: I went to Nagoya on Tuesday. I wanted to buy them in Nagoya, but I didn't have enough cash. Then I thought about buying them on the way home at Gozaisho in Yokkaichi but the parking was full so I bought them when I got back home.

Mum: I see. Anyway, we are all family so no one should be greedy. When we find whose ticket this is, we should all think about sharing a little.
